(LAST DISPATCH.)

Worth's majority in New Hanover about 700, Robeson about 200, Richmond, majority not known, but considerable—ahead in Bladen as far as heard from. Holden carries Columbus by about 80 majority.

Rumor says, Holden has carried Chatham by 250 majority. Vote in Johnston small, but majority for Holden. Franklin, rumor says has gone over 500 for Worth.

"Confederate Party."

The public press whether secular, political or religious, should aim to disseminate truth, and nothing but truth. Especially is it incumbent upon the Southern press truthfully and honestly to daguereotype public sentiment in the South, and to avoid for mere partizan effect, untruthful caricatures of those to whom they are and have been politically opposed. The reason for this ought to be obvious to every reflecting mind.

Nothing tended so much to bring on the late war, as the misrepresentations made by the Northern and Southern press of the true issues involved in the controversy between the North and South, and the illiberal and false statements made pro and con, in regard to the feelings and purposes of each section. And nothing now can so much continue and promote conflict and bad feeling and consequent illiberality and alination, between the two sections, as the false views which are constantly put forth in regard to Northern and Southern sentiments.

It must be palpable to every one, that the great desideratum in the whole country, is a truthful, reliable, conservative and truly patriotic public press. Had the whole Southern people understood really the temper and feelings of each particular State and section of the South, and had the entire North understood the whole South, we certainly should never have had the late disastrous war, and the same true understanding now, is absolutely essential to a proper and happy reunion. But so long as the public press for party and personal ends, will continue to misrepresent those opposed to them, and labor to make false impressions upon the North or the South, as to the State of parties or public sentiment, so long we shall have unpleasant and unprofitable bickerings.

A city cotemporary speaking of Mr. Worth, makes the following invidious statement, which of course as far as its influence extends, is calculated to prejudice Mr. Worth at the North, and his administration, should he have been elected to the office of Governor.

"I have nothing to utter against Mr. Worth, but it is well known that he is the candidate of the Confederate party, and as such the people must repudiate him, if they expect to get back in the Union."

Such a remark, the writer may feel justified in making from the stand-point he occupies, without intending to do Mr. Worth injustice or to make a false impression upon his readers. But does not every one see at once how unjust it is to Mr. Worth, and how well calculated it is to make a false impression as to the actual state of parties in this State? Is any one seriously disposed to risk the assertion that there is a "Confederate party" in this State? There are many it is true in the State, who were friends of the Confederate cause during the war. They strongly sympathised with it and labored to promote it, but since the utter overthrow of the Confederacy, does any suppose that there is a person who still clings to the idea of a "Southern Confederacy?" Nonsense. We presume the only object of such reference, is to stigmatize those persons who were formerly friends of the Confederacy, as disloyal or untrue. They have fully complied with the terms of the amnesty; are held and regarded by President Johnson as loyal men—they are as true to the Union and as patriotic as their fellows, but they happen to differ with the "strait sect," and hence they must be spotted.

But no such party exists. We know no other but a Union party in the State. Jonathan Worth could recognise no other, and yet he is held up as being supported by the "Confederate party." He is known to have been a more consistent, reliable Union man than any who oppose him, and yet forsooth, because he is voted for, because of his consistency, as a choice between himself and a so called Union man, by those who were true Southern men, an attempt is made to stigmatize him and the true conservative Union men of the State.

What better proof of the illiberal spirit which characterises the "strait sect" party in this State, than such conduct affords? It would cut off entirely those whom the government acknowledges to be loyal, from the elective franchise, unless they choose to bring out a candidate of their own, to be the butt of their abuse and denunciation, and even stigmatises the best Union man in the State, because they prefer to give their suffrages to one in whom they can confide as a Union man, rather an another less consistent.

Wake County.

The result of the election in Wake County is not a little mortifying to us, when we know it might have been avoided to a great extent by proper effort on the part of those who really sympathised with Mr. Worth. No one was ready to step forward to lead our forces in the canvass, and hence no effort was made to give him that support which he had a right to expect, The threats and misrepresentations of the Standard, had their full weight upon our credulous and timid population—hence the large vote in favor of the "strait sect" party.

Dialectic Museum.

We publish to-day an appeal to the friends of the Dialectic Society of the State University at Chapel Hill, on a touching subject. The society proposes to gather up remenbrances of its lost jewels,—its members who have fallen in the late war. The appeal will touch the hearts of many and we hope will be at once responded to properly. The students of Chapel Hill have fallen all over the South in the late struggle, and the Society wishes to preserve their memories by some historical record, as well as by placing in its "museum" some relic of the departed.

Jefferson Davis.

The following beautifully written paper has been handed us for publication. It is from the eloquent pen of Mrs. Downing, of Charlotte, written at the request of friends during a brief visit to this city. Mrs. D. we hope will be soon extensively and better known in the South by the productions of her pen, now passing through the press. She is the author of that interesting work entitled "Nameless," of the publication of which the public has already been advised. The petition has already been extensively circulated, and we learn has many signatures.

PETITION.

To His Excellency Andrew Johnson,

President of the United States:

We the undersigned, acting on the part of the women of your Excellency's native city, and actuated by the spirit which animates the women of the entire South, most respectfully beg leave to present to your Excellency, our petition.

This is in behalf of Jefferson Davis, lately invested with all the perogatives of a position similar to the one in which your Excellency, by the direct interposition of the hand of God has been placed, now a captive languishing in prison.—Whether that prison be the just doom of him who is suffering from its effects, is not a question to be argued by us. If it be conceded that the man who is the representative of a people must suffer the consequences of such representative, then the decree which consigned Mr. Davis to imprisonment in a land which has hitherto been the world's synonyme for freedom, was a most proper one, and he is undergoing only a fitting expiation for the offended majesty of the law.—But has he not suffered it sufficiently long? Is it impossible for justice to be tempered with mercy? Will not the resources of your Excellency's mind devise some means by which their antagonism may be removed?

Is not America sufficiently glorious? has she not been proved sufficiently great, to allow her to rise superior to the petty conventional codes of smaller nations, and exhibit to the world at once her power and her magnanimity, by extending a free pardon to one who though he may have erred grieviously against her, is still her child and still loves her? Will not your Excellency be America's agent in this matter? Will you not as the embodiment of her strength and greatness, unloose the bonds of the patient sufferer, who has so meekly and uncomplainingly seen the spring blossom into summer and the summer fade into autumn—seen it through his prison bars?

Will you not release him before the dreary winter comes, bringing with it so much of material discomfort to his frail and delicate body, and what is far worse than the most acute physical suffering, the wintery chill of hope deferred to his soul which pines for freedom? Give him back, we implore you, to the women of the South.—He is ours and we love him!

We bound up our hearts and souls in him and the cause which he once represented. God has seen fit to permit that cause to be lost forever. and we bow to this decree. In all the broad South there is no one so mad as to cherish the hope, that Mr. Davis may in any way be connected with a future, consonant with what our wishes were when he was invested with the dignity which has proved so fatal to him. No such thought has an existence; he has no future, and all our hopes in him were connected wholly with the past and are dead forever.

But we would be less than women, if we forsook him with whom the cause which we loved and have lost was identified, and woman like, we cling to him all the more closely, because he is suffering and stands in need of our sympathy.

The sweetest and holiest season of the year is fast approaching, bringing as to human remembrance Him who opened the prison doors of the enchained universe and gave freedom to a ransomed world.

Will not your Excellency make the Christmas of 1865 a year which has witnessed the reunnion of a glorious country and made you its Chief Magistrate, by giving as a Christmas gift to the women of the South the freedom of Jefferson Davis?

Listen, we implore your Excellency, to our pleadings; give us the boon we ask, not so much because you may consider the gift right in itself, but because there is no wrong in it, and because we want it so much, and beg for it so earnestly.

Give back Mr. Davis to his own little children—give him back to us, who once stood in that relation towards him. Do not, we beg you, permit Death to anticipate you and give to his sorely tried spirit the freedom which it is now in the power of your Excellency to bestow; and by his release make for yourself a home in every Southern woman's heart—cause your name to ring with praises in every Southern woman's mouth, and go up to God, night and morning in every Southern woman's prayers, loaded with blessings and shielded by petitions for your long life and felicity.

Give us back Jefferson Davis, and by giving in your own right, do what, as your Excellency is very well aware, has never yet been done, conquer the women of the South!

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

North Carolina Baptist State Convention.

This body met at Forestville, Wake County, N. C., on Wednesday, the 1st inst., and closed its session Sunday afternoon. Rev. James McDaniel, pastor of the Church in Fayetteville, was elected President. He has presided over the Convention for seventeen years past, and discharged the duties in an able and faithful manner. The remaining officers were elected as follows:

1st Vice President, Elder A. McDowell.
2nd Vice President, Elder T. J. Pitchford.
3rd Vice President, Elder G. W. Purefoy.
Recording Secretary, Elder J. D. Hufham.
Assistant Secretary, C E Dunn.
Treasurer, Elder J. S. Purefoy.
Auditor, Elder W. T. Walters.

Interesting reports were represented from the Board of Missions and the Sunday School and Publication Board, showing that despite the times a large amount of work had been done during the past year, and urging the Churches to renewed zeal and activity in these departments of Christian labor.

Rev. N. B. Cobb has been appointed Corresponding Secretary of the Sunday School and Publication Board, and will visit different sections, present the claims of the Board, establish Sunday Schools &c. The committee to inquire into the condition of Wake Forest College reported that about $46,000 had been invested by order of the Board of Trustees in Confederate bonds which is of course lost. They still have on hand the following amounts:

In old State bonds,	$28,000
In notes on individuals,	25,000
Balance of legacies,	4,300
Total,	$57,300

It is the intention of the Board of Trustees to resume operations the first of next year. Rev. A. McDowell in behalf of the Committee to suggest a plan for the religious instruction of the colored people, presented the following report which was unanimously adopted:

Recognizing our obligations, as we have ever done, to instruct the ignorant, to assist the needy, and to do good to all men, as we have opportunity, your committee can but regard the religious instruction of our colored people as a special duty imposed by the providence of God on Southern christians.

By recent events, over which neither we nor they have had any control, their relations to us have been essentially changed, and as they may become a permanent part of our population, it is our obvious and imperative duty to furnish, them, as far as in our power lies, all necessary religious instruction.

We therefore advise, and earnestly exhort all our pastors to preach regularly to the colored people of their congregations, and all our churches to organize Sunday Schools for them.

We are happy to state that Sunday schools already organized by some of our churches afford the most gratifying indications of complete success.

The Committee on Periodicals recommended the Biblical Recorder to the earnest and hearty support of the denomination and urged the pastors of the several churches in the State to do all in their power to extend its circulation. A large amount of business of interest to the denomination was transacted.

The weather was quite unfavorable during the session, yet quite a number of Churches and Associations were represented. The utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed during the entire meeting.

On Sabbath in the morning, Rev. Wm. M. Young, of Wilmington, preached the missionary sermon to a large and attentive congregation, and in the afternoon a meeting was held in behalf of Sabbath schools, and several interesting addresses were delivered. The collections on Sabbath were quite liberal, considering the scarcity of money.

The Convention adjourned to meet in Raleigh on Wednesday before the 4th Sabbath in May, next.

The citizens of Forestville and vicinity well sustained their reputation for hospitality and kindness, and it was generally agreed that this was one of the most pleasant sessions of the Convention ever held.

APPEAL

To former members of the "Dialectic Society," University of N. C., their acquaintances, and friends to the late Confederate States throughout the State:

We are directed by the Dialectic Society, a well known and venerable literary body of this University, to extend to you the following appeal.

In the recent struggle for Southern Independence, there were swept away many, very many, members of our Society; some of them were young, fresh from their Collegiate duties. Others more ripe with years, which had made them a source of just pride, and reflected honor to this Society. She laments the death of every worthy member, but more intensely does she sorrow o'er the loss of her Patriot Sons. She venerates their memory and is anxious to have a record of each one of them. To this end, she begs all who would assist in the accomplishment of a work, so natural, so praiseworthy, to furnish her with the name of every member of the Society, who is known to have died in the Confederate army, from wounds or disease. It is our unhappiness to know that the sad list will be a long one, representing every southern army and every southern State; but mingled with unhappiness will be the consoling reflection that their very numbers is that of which we are with reason proud.

The name should be accompanied with the time, place, and circumstances of his death, and addressed to "the Historian, Dialectic Society." Chapel Hill N. C.

Although the war for separation and self-government has terminated unsuccessfully, we value its history. We believe that you would, with us be pleased to see established on an important scale, and under proper auspices, "A MUSEUM for the collection and preservation of all curiosities and relics, or matters of any sort, connected with the late Confederate States, or incident to the war for its establishment." Our Society has realized the fact that such a museum must be gotten up if at all, by a literary association, which can in no way be reckoned political, and from material now in private hands. She has therefore determined to make the move, and looks to you for encouragement. The museum is designed to be a receptacle for whatever may be interesting to lovers of liberty, or admirers of patriotism and valor; whatever is dear to true Southerners, whether it be because of its intrinsic worth and beauty, or whether because of its association, you are therefore earnestly invited to assist us, by contributing whatever your taste may suggest as appropriate, and thereby encourage that which may become a valuable exhibition; grateful to the eyes of those who in time to come may appreciate the motives and achievements of the Southern people in the late war, and who have sympathized with them.—Each article should be accompanied with a full descriptive label carefully wrapped or packed, and sent to "Museum" Dialectic Society, Chapel Hill N. C.

When possible, articles may be sent by hands of students, otherwise friends will please forward by Express at expense of Society. Articles when received will be carefully labelled with name and resident of donor.

Papers friendly to the enterprise will please publish and call attention.

W. C. KENCHER,
JNO. W. PEARSON,
T. C. DEROSSET.

The hour has its special duties for all, both North and South.

It is the plain duty of Southern men to devote all their energies, talents, means and powers to the regeneration and re-construction of the Southern States. Free labor must be accepted by them as a fixed fact, an experiment successfully tried, and the only available source of their future prosperity. This cannot be altogether or nearly supplied from the freed colored men, but FREE WHITE LABOR is to be what the South must rely upon in the future. This must be supplied by emigration and must be done by the capitalists of New York, New England, the Great North West and of Europe. Owing to the sad losses of the Southern people, many are forced to put their land into market at a very low price, so that many fine plantations can now be purchased at a price lower than the actual cost of buildings erected thereon. There are also millions of acres of unimproved land to be purchased at a very low rate. Who can foresee what destiny yet awaits these teeming acres, when trade shall revive and the influx of a new and energetic population shall develop, as never before, the vast resources of the South; when the great valley of the Mississippi shall blossom under the hands of Northern enterprise and free labor, and bear on its teeming bosom cotton enough to clothe, and corn enough to feed, the whole civilized world. When this vast valley shall have been fully redeemed by Northern capitalists and imported Northern laborers, who can estimate the vast wealth of such a region of Egyptian fertility?

Here then are inducements to peace, conciliation and prosperity by such strong inducements for the emigration of Northern laborers and capitalists to the Southern lands, where cheap and comfortable homes can be obtained and where capitalists can find safe and remunerative investments. The South are aware of these things as well as the North, and instead of feeling a spirit of opposition against Northern emigration, which would be suicidal folly, invite it cordially and earnestly.

Let, then, the men of both sections remember the duties of the hour. Slavery can never be revived: let it not, then, be mentioned. Secession is killed and buried beyond a hope of resurrection and henceforward let our spirit be that of conciliation, and our duties to promote, in every way in our power, the prosperity of our common heritage,—taking as our motto, No North, no South, No East, no West, but now, and forever, one country, one destiny, one duty!—Newport News.

The great Northern Railway, in England, is going to introduce the system for consuming the smoke of the locomotives, and at the same time manufacture gas from the same for lighting the train.

FACTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

THERE ARE BUT FEW SUBJECTS PRESENTED to the mind of man upon which there are not a great variety of opinions, and about which there are not protracted discussions. But there are a few facts so well established, and so uncontrovertible that they are universally assented to. One is that all men now living, will soon be called upon to gather up their feet and depart to the land of the dead. "One generation goeth, and another cometh, and we have no abiding city here," is a matter about which there is no dispute. Another is, "Of that day, and of that hour, knoweth no man." Whether death cometh at the twelfth hour or at the cock-crowing, is of equal uncertainty to all.

Another is, that when wife and children gather around us, to take their final leave, in that sad circle centers all our earthly interest. The last earthly rational thought of Husband and Father, is: Wife and Children (if worthy of sustaining such endearing relations.) Another is, no man living knows what may be the result of his efforts to secure a competence for his family. "Riches take to themselves wings and fly away," has been realized by how many? adverse winds of to-morrow, may take the place of to-day's prosperous gales; under currents which the most penetrating eye cannot see, or the strongest arm control, may in an evil hour sweep away the hard earnings of years. Another is, no man ever has, or ever can assume more sacred obligations, than Husband and Father. Hence it is said, that he that will not provide for his own household is worse than an infidel.

Now, what Husband and Father is there battling with the difficulties of life, knowing as he must, that uncertainties attend every effort, and wait upon every enterprise, that he has not with earnest voice, and anxious heart, called to the future to unlock its barred gates and reveal to him the result of this or that undertaking. But the only voice that comes from that land of silence, is, "Verily, thou knowest not what shall be on the morrow."

Such are some of the few facts about which there is no controversy, and such are some of the uncertainties that ever have, and ever will, gather around our pathway through life, and which have in generations past, and will in generations to come, trouble and oppress the Husband and Father. Now in view of these facts, responsibilities, and uncertainties, it is for you to judge and decide upon the propriety, necessity, and duty, of making a policy on your life, for the benefit of your family. Will it not relieve you of your present anxiety to know that a certain portion of the fruits of you labors are secured to that family? Remember that whatever you pay for a life policy is paid to them. The stranger intermeddleth not with that.

Remember also, that $5000 paid to them in that day when the heart and flesh shall fail you, will be more to them, than $10,000 while you are here to provide for them. Also remember, that the amount for which you are insured will not be diminished in the settling of your estate, and that from generation to generation, Life Insurance has answered the end for which is was ordained, as fully, to say to the least, as any institution of man's creation, and that its primary object was, and still is, to secure the family against the stern realities of want, and to relieve from corroding anxiety those who have assumed family responsibilities.

Do you say "I know it would be wise in me to take out a policy and I intend to do so soon; but just now I want to use all my funds in my business."—Friend, if it is wisdom in you to insure at all, it is folly to defer it, to-morrow is in eternity, therefore "Boast not thyself of to-morrow," "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." "Procrastination is the thief of time."

The Aetna Life Insurance Company offers you all the inducements to insure that can be found in any company. Its assets are over a million and a half. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to reinsure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is issuing monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates for insurance are as reasonable as those of any other well established responsible Company. It is paying as large dividends to its policy holders as any other Company. Its officers are competent business men. Its assets, are as permanently and as safely invested as any other company can invest theirs, and from which as good interest is being received. It pays its losses as promptly, is as particular in the character of its risks, and as yet it is a stranger to litigation.

North Carolina State Convention.

The following sketches of the prominent men of our State Convention, appeared some days ago in the Petersburg Index, and were furnished by a friend of ours, to whom our readers are indebted. We are compelled to give it to our readers in two issues.

The writer says:

Three are delegates to this Convention who were members of the Constitutional Convention of 1835, viz: Messrs. Gilliam, of Granville; Dockery, of Richmond; and Falson, of Sampson.

Nine members of this Convention were originally members of the Secession Convention of 1861, viz: Messrs. Mebane, Alamance; Warren, Beaufort; Ferebee, Camden; Brown, Caswell; Howard, Edgecomb; Dick, Guilford; Smith, Johnson; Berry, Orange, and Patterson, Caldwell. The last, however, represented the county of Forsyth in 1861. It is a little remarkable that four of these, Messrs. Warren, Brown, Berry and Patterson, were members of the Committee of Eleven who presented the anti-secession ordinance which was passed, receiving the support of all of them, except Mr. Brown.

Messrs. Donnell, of Beaufort and Joyce, of Stokes, who are members of this Convention, were also members of the former Convention, having been elected to fill vacancies.

The Convention will not compare favorably with that of 1861 in talent; yet its leaders are, for the greater part, men of decided abilities, and great personal worth, equal, probably, to the leaders of the former body, though not of such extended reputation. The great convulsion necessarily attending the terrible war, has thrown upon the surface a scum of ignorance and intolerance, which it is earnestly hoped will, when the storm has entirely subsided, silently sink to rest in oblivion.

We miss such names as Edwards, Graham, Badger, Ruffin, Venable, Gilmer, Biggs, Ashe, Reid, and Craige, names familiar in all parts of the Union, but we find their seats occupied by such men as Reade, Moore, Phillips, Manly, Wright, Boyden, Conigland, Dockery, Pool, Thompson, Winston, Gilliam and Grissom, whose reputation, though in a great measure circumscribed by the boundaries of the State, are nevertheless, the peers of their predecessors; while the names of Brown, Howard, Ferebee, Warren, Donnell, Mebane and Dick, are the common property of both bodies.

Two delegates, Judge Reade, the President, and Hon. Mr. Logan, of Rutherford, were members of the Confederate States Congress, the first in the Senate, and the latter in the House of Representatives.

Of the members of the Convention, Col Ferebee, of Camden, 5th N C Cav.; Col. Walkup, of Union, 48th N C Inf.; Lt. Col. Love, of Jackson, 1st Reg. Thomas' N C Legion, Inf.; Lt. Colonel Kennedy, of Wayne, 16th Confederate Bat Cav. Capt. Ward, of Rockingham, 13th N C Inf.; and Capt. Polk, of Anson, 43d N C Inf.; were connected with the Confederate armies throughout the entire war, and did brave service. Messrs. Allen, Duplin; Grissom, Granville; Harrison; Wake; Settle, Rockingham, and probably others, were officers early in the war.

While on the other hand, Bryan of Wilkes, was a Captain under Kirk, who marauded in the western part of the State, and Gahagan, of Madison, was connected with some similar band that frequented the mountains of that section.

None of these gentlemen, except Col. Love, gave evidence by their dress, of their former military life. This gentleman occasionally wore the Confederate gray, altered so as to comply with the military orders on the subject, but the faded collar and weather-stained sleeves yet bore the impress of the badge of a rank that had been nobly won and worn by this gallant gentleman.

The delegate from Yadkin, a plain, substantial farmer, a little on the shady side of life, who habitually dressed in a neat suit of grayish homespun, was one of the most notable men of the Convention, from the fact of having defeated Chief Justice Pearson, and, on this account, was familiarly called "Jack, the Giant Killer."

There are a few very old men in the Convention, and a like number of quite young delegates; the great majority occupy the medium ground of middle-age. The "leaders" are generally lawyers, but there are among these, however, a few thrifty farmers; such as Mebane and Dockery, who have, during a long series of years, been a little more than able to make "buckle and tongue meet" in that noblest of all employments. Three delegates are ministers of the Gospel: Messrs. Joyner, of Warren, and Nicholson, of Duplin, of the Methodist, and Stewart, of the Presbyterian Church. For the rest, they are composed of splenetic doctors, doughty militia Generals and officers of "less degree," pragmatical country squires, full of "lip-wisdom," and small-beer" politicians, fertile in platitudes and constitutional amendments.

EDWIN G. READE.

Hon. Edwin G. Reade, of Person county, the President of the Convention, is a middle-aged gentleman, of fine personal appearance, scrupulously neat in dress, urbane, but reserved in manner, and, as a presiding officer, very courteous, but too tender in his deportment. He is better known as an eminent jurist, and successful lawyer, than as a politician. He entered public life about ten years since, having defeated the Hon. John Kerr, for Congress, in which he served but one term. During the war he was elected by the Legislature a Judge of the Superior Court, and was subsequently appointed, by Gov. Vance, to fill the unexpired term of the Hon. George Davis, in the Senate of the Confederate States, who had been transferred to the Cabinet of President Davis. Hon. Thos. S. Ashe, of Anson, defeated Judge Reade, for the Senate, at the last session of the Legislature, but the term for which the latter gentleman was appointed expired with the Government. Judge Reade now holds the position of Provisional Judge of the Superior Court under the appointment of Gov. Holden. In the party divisions which divided people previous to the war, Judge Reade was an Union Whig.

BEDFORD BROWN.

Hon. Bedford Brown, of Caswell, has probably more national reputation than any other member of the Convention, and has been longer in public life. He entered the arena of politics in 1815, as a member of the House of Commons, with the Hon. R. M. Saunders as a colleague. Mr. Brown, though then just attained to the age of manhood, took a very prominent stand for the national administration and the war with Great Britain that our country was engaged in. He served successively in both branches of the General Assembly, until 1829, when he was transferred to the Senate of the United States, and was re-elected for a second term, but resigned shortly thereafter under instructions from the Legislature. He was subsequently, in 1842, while a member of the State Senate, again supported by this friends for United States Senator, but, after an angry and bitter contest, was defeated by the Hon. Wm. H. Haywood. Mr. Brown soon afterwards removed from the State for a short period.

In the Legislature of 1860-'61, he was a leading Union Democrat.

Mr. Brown has a tall, spare figure, a fine voice, and good flow of language, and especially noted for the great urbanity and courteous dignity with which he conducts all debates. He bears the weight and cares of seventy years, with an ease and blithness astonishingly remarkable.

He delivered several years since, the biennial address before the Dialetic Society of the University of North Carolina, of which he is a member.

Mr. Brown is at present a candidate for Congress in the Fifth District.

BARTHOLOMEW F. MOORE.

B F. Moore, Esq, one of the delegates from Wake, is probably the recognized leader in the Convention. Most of the important ordinances passed during the late session were drafted by him, and it is to be regretted that this distinguished gentleman did not frame his drafts in the earlier part of the session, with the same liberality and conservatism which characterized his later course.

Mr. Moore is a native of Halifax county, and entered public life as a member of the House of Commons from his native county in 1836, and served several consecutive sessions. He was elected Attorney General of the State in 1848, which he resigned in 1851. He is regarded as one of the profoundest lawyers in the State, and with scarcely a superior in the United States, is not extensively known beyond the limits of North Carolina. He is at the head of two of the most important committees of the Convention.

Mr. Moore, though at a somewhat advanced age, exhibits the zeal and industry which has characterized him through life, and marked every step of his successful course as a lawyer. His style of oratory is more suited for the Supreme Court room than the Legislative halls. He was a Whig in politics, and has been, throughout the entire war, one of the most uniformly consistent Union men of prominence in the State.

Mr. Moore is at present the President of the Bank of the State.

Said lands I have divided into lots or tracts from 50 to 150 acres, more or less, all of which have been carefully arranged, with suitable building, sites and springs on most of the tracts. MRS. S. A. REID:—I take pleasure in stating that I have found great relief in the use of your RHEUMATIC OINTMENT.

After suffering fifteen years, and trying every remedy, I could get, I used your Ointment three weeks only.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSUSANCE COMpany of Hartford, have appointed

their General Agent for the establishing sub Agents in North Carolina and Virginia, according to his discretion. This Company has no superior in this country, is of long standing, and its Assets are over a million and a half dollars. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to reinsure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is issuing monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates are moderate and reasonable, and all losses promptly paid. Thus it is commended to all who wish to provide for their families and loved ones, a certainty for support when their earthly dependants shall have passed away.

For further information, call on the agent at his office formerly occupied by General Haywood.

WM. H. CROW, Agent.

Raleigh, October 27. 67-1m.

North Carolina Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

AT A MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE Company on the 27th of September, an assessment of 15 per cent. was levied on all premium Notes in the office of the Company at the time the losses occurred, to be paid in three installments, viz: six, nine and twelve months from 1st October, 1865.

The amount of premium Notes on hand,		$220,000
" "	Allowed Losses,	10,000
" "	Unsettled do.	7,500

(There are some losses not yet reported, the amount of which, of course, cannot now be stated.)

The assessment may appear to be disproportionate to the amount of the losses; but the Directors, taking into consideration the changes in property by sale, without transfer of policies, by destruction during the war, &c., &c., do not think that more will be raised by it than will be needed to meet the actual wants of the Company.

There will be, necessarily some delay in the payment of the losses. It is hoped, however, that there will be no complaint on this account; especially, when it is recollected that payment in some cases, was tendered in Confederate currency and refused.

The Company is prepared to take risks as in former times, and on as favorable terms. Address all letters to the Secretary. T. H. SBLBY, Pres't.

LOUISBURG

FEMALE COLLEGE.

REV. T. M. JONES, A. M., Pres't and Proprietor.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION will begin onthe second Wednesday in January, 1866.

Louisburg is a village seldom surpassed for health, intelligence, refinement and morality. It is in Franklin County, nine miles from Franklinton, on the R. and Gaston Railread. Between these points there is a daily stage line, connecting with trains going North and South.

The College building, located in a beautiful grove, on an elevated site, is large, commodious and well ventilated. It will be thoroughly renovated, and fitte dup with neat furniture and fire places in the dormitories. It is our purpose to establish for young ladies a school of the highest grade, affording superior facilities for the acquisition of a thorough and accomplished education.

With the advantages of a good library, a well selected Chemical and Philosophical apparatus, a competent Faculty, and large experience in connection with the Greensboro Female College, we hope, by a faithful discharge of duty, to merit a liberal share of patronage. Boarding pupils will live as members of the President's family. Terms reasonable, and will be made known in due time. Those desiring to send their daughters, will please address me, for the present, at Greensboro, N. C, and circulars will be sent.
